

The Owingsville Outlook.

VOL. XX.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1898.

NO. 7.

Notice to Taxpayers.

The taxpayers of Bath county are hereby notified that the tax for the year 1898 have been made out and placed in my hands. You are therefore notified to call at my office and settle.

J. M. ARCHISON, S. B. C.

The weather last week was hot enough.

A new coat of gravel is being placed on Main street.

More and better goods at Cross & Thompson's for your money than any place in town.

There is much typhoid fever in a mild form in the county.

The G. A. R. reunion at Preston begins today. A big time is anticipated.

Remember the place. See the flag in "the pocket."

CROSS & THOMPSON.

The most of the typhoid fever patients in and near town are getting well.

John L. Vice bought of Henry and Penrose Ewing 38 export cattle at $4.75.

The only place in town that uses the words "extraordinary values" for your money is Cross & Thompson's.

Elder Alfrey will preach next Sunday at the Shroud locust grove on the Preston pike.

The colored people will give a big picnic at Bruton Chapel, on Peaked Oak, September 17th.

The strong wind Sunday down some haystacks and corn down on the Wyoming pike.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—In order to close up my old business, I desire all who are indebted to me to call and settle at once. R. T. GAULT.

Some parts of the county have had good rains the past week. Some turnip showers have fallen in town.

Next Monday will be County Court day. Come in and see us and subscribe for THE OUTLOOK if you are not already a subscriber.

BATH COUNTY FISCAL COURT, Called Term, August 23d, 1898.

It is ordered that all overseers of the public roads of the county, and holders of claims for work done on county roads, shall file the same for inspection with the magistrates of their respective districts.

It is ordered that the Clerk of this Court have published in all newspapers in the county the above order.

A copy. Attest:

J. T. PETERS, Clerk.

W. D. DONALDSON and James Crouch have bought the saloon of M. M. Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes has not decided on a location. He has two or more places under consideration.

New store, new goods, new men! Remember the Maine object. See Cross & Thompson before you go if you want goods at the right prices.

Mrs. Abe Jones, of White Oak, sent to this office last Saturday a pair of diminutive hen eggs joined together after the Siamese Twins manner. They are quite a curiosity.

On the list of names of seriously sick soldiers of fever at Chickamauga camp is that of Charles Y. Flood, of Co. C, 2d Ky. It is probably a mistake for Cheasly Y. Flood, of Moore's Ferry, this county.

CORN MILL.—I have bought Clark Crouch's corn mill in town. Regular grinding days are Friday and Saturday. Meal exchanged for corn at any time my customers bring it.

S. P. ARCHISON.

Evangelist W. D. Frazer in his announcements of meetings includes Mt. Sterling, Sept. 19-20; Sideview, 21-22; Steppstone, 23-24; Preston, 25-26; Owingsville, 27-28; Odessa, 29-30.

All executors, administrators and guardians who have not settled with the court for two years must call at once and make settlements under penalty of law.

W. G. RAMSEY, Judge.

TOBACCO SALES.—James M. Richart purchased the following crops of tobacco: on Salt Well, crops of John White, Little Sulidie and James Kincaid each at 7c; near Forge Farm, Tilford Craycraft's at 7c; crop of Peter Hart and Will Ginter at 6c.

SEED WHEAT.—I have for sale 80 bushels of the celebrated Red Chaff Wheat, which I introduced here some few years ago. Sample can be seen at THE OUTLOOK office.

C. W. HOMAKER.

Elijah Ford, of the First Ky., and Alfred Bailey, of the Third, are two Bath county soldiers brought on the State hospital train from Newport News the past week back to Kentucky.

Alfred Bailey was so ill that he had to be left at the Fort Monroe hospital.

CHURCH MEETINGS CHANGED.—Owing to the seats at the new Harp school-house not being completed the meeting announced there for this week has been postponed until next Monday night. Elder Tinsley is preaching at See's school-house this week. The protracted meeting by Elder Ruebel at the Christian Church here has been postponed until September 19th.

Elder Walter White, of Midway, after holding a successful meeting with 13 additions to the Christian Church at Bethel, stopped over here on his way home and spent Tuesday with Elder T. S. Thibsey.

Dr. Gudgel, of this town, requested Dr. Louis H. Landman, of No. 503 W. 9th St., Cincinnati, to come to Owingsville for a day or two to consult with him about his patients suffering from eye troubles; also to adjust proper glasses. He will be at the Conner House Friday, Sept. 9th, and remain over Sunday.

COL. BOB STONER DEAD.—Col. Robert G. Stoner, of Bourbon Co., died Monday morning. He has had several strokes of paralysis in the past few months. He was married this year to Miss Ida Hamilton, stepdaughter of the late Gen. John S. Williams. Col. Stoner was a wealthy farmer and horseman. He was in command of a regiment of Confederate cavalry in the Civil War and from the numerous forays into Kentucky Bob Stoner became a familiar name in this section as that of a daring and gallant military leader.

T. S. Shroud will not be under sold: Hardwood Bedsteads, $1.60; Hardwood Safe, $2.50; 35-slat Canoe-seat Penitentiary Chairs, $55; Ladies' Oak Sewing Rockers, $1; Bed-springs, $2; Cotton-top Mattresses, $2.50; Extension Tables 60c per foot; Solid Oak Dressers, $7.50. Everything else in proportion. Cash on credit. 5 per cent off for cash.

BIRD-HART.—Married, at three o'clock p. m. Wednesday, August 31, 1898, at residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hart, on Roe's Run, Mr. Almanzo Byrd, a well-to-do farmer of Montgomey Co., and Miss Laura Hart, Elder N. S. Tinsley officiating. They left immediately after the ceremony for the groom's home, and on Saturday went to Cincinnati, to attend the G. A. R. reunion. Miss Sudie Stout, of Ewington, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. THE OUTLOOK extends congratulations to this happy couple and wishes them a long and prosperous journey down the pathway of life.

James W. Smith was just fifteen days putting up on High street for Mrs. Carrie Lacy a residence of three large rooms, hall, kitchen, back porch and veranda. He commenced Tuesday on H. C. Gudgel's residence at the west end of Main street.

It is reported that several more buildings are under consideration and may be erected this fall.

Mrs. JAMES GILLON'S DEATH.—Mrs. James Gillon died at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, O., at 8 o'clock p. m. August 30th, 1898, of the heart failure following a surgical operation for tumor. The operation had every indication of success, and the patient suffered remained in uninterrupted sleep under the anesthetic. The end came without a struggle, and her life was rounded with a sweet sleep. Her husband attended her at the hospital. Her brother William L. Nixon was dispatched for, and he and Mr. Gillon brought the body home the following Wednesday night. On Sept. 1st at 3 o'clock p. m. the interment was made at the Owingsville Cemetery, after funeral services at the grave, conducted by Elder T. S. Tinsley and Rev. R. A. Walton. The pall-bearers were J. M. Richard, W. W. Perry, Dr. G. W. Conner, J. W. Hutchesson, C. W. Honaker, Sr. and T. J. Peters.

Mrs. Hannah Garial Nixon was the eldest child of the late Beverly D. Nixon and his second wife, nee Sarah Honaker. She was born in DeWitt C. Flood, of Moore's Ferry. The deceased father is bearing a double burden of sorrow. Only a few weeks ago his beloved companion died, her decease being partly caused by her grief at parting from her son, who went to join the army. Now the son comes home a corpse, a victim of the dread camp typhoid fever. The sympathy of all who know the gentle, heart-stricken father will go out to him in his sad affliction.

$1,200 STOCK AT AUCTION SALE.—We will on Thursday, 8th day of September, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at Reynoldsburg, consisting of dry goods and groceries, boots, shoes, notions, tinware, harness, etc., etc., a fine lot of ladies' and misses' shoes, calicos, cottons, and, in fact, everything kept in a general store. We have determined to quit the mercantile business, and everything in the store will be sold. From now until day of sale we will sell for cash at cost prices.

TERMS.—All sums of five dollars and under, cash; sums over that amount on a credit of 90 days, the purchase to give a negotiable note payable at the Farmers Bank. This sale will continue from day to day until everything is sold. Everybody especially invited.

J. W. EMMONS, N. R. EMMONS, M. D. FARIS, Auctioneer. 6:21

PHILLIPS-NEWMAN.—Dr. Wm. O. Phillips and Miss May Newman were united in matrimony at the home of the bride's parents in Grange City, at 9:30 o'clock a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 7th, 1898. After the ceremony they left by 35 p. m. train for Versailles to attend the G. A. R. reunion.

John W. Corbin, of Reynoldsburg; Thomas S. Robertson, of Bethel; John House, of Sherburne, and George A. Peed were selling tobacco on the Louisville break last week.

Wm. Payne, of Chicago, Ill., and Ben Sondeheimer, of Cleveland, O., visited friends in town Tuesday. They have each been spending several weeks with relatives in Montgomery county.

Mrs. E. E. Holmes, of Vanceburg, arrived Tuesday afternoon on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hutchesson, Rev. H. Holmes, her husband, will join her the last of this week.

Mrs. Chess Glover, of Montgomery county, after a visit of a week with her brother, James Gillon, returned home Tuesday. Her daughter, Miss Jane, will keep house for her uncle for the present.

THE TOBACCO CROP.—Nearly all of the early set tobacco will be housed this week. There are some very fine crops in the county. The plants are large and require more barn room than usual, 31 to 4 acres taking up as much space as 5 or 6 acres of former crops. Some growers will have to seal off a portion of their crops on this account until it becomes cured enough to hang closer. One cause of the fore-going was the excessively hot weather. The farmers cut late in the afternoon and housed early in the morning to prevent the plants from sunburning. Then it was housed before it wilted, which required more room. Some tobacco is curing up very bright, while some barns filled full of green plants are harboring the tobacco. Some is ruined and is being hauled out. The late tobacco has fired very badly and will not be of much value.

NEW BUILDINGS.—Ed. William, of Mt. Sterling, came over Saturday to draw the plan for Geo. A. Peed's livery stable. He and Mr. Peed went to Flemingsburg Sunday to look at a stable there. The work drawings will be made this week. It is learned that it will be 38 feet front and 90 feet deep, and the front and 30 feet of the western wall will be built of brick. It will be built on the site of the burned stable on Henry street.

B. Morgan Goodpaster has bought of J. J. Nesbitt a portion of the lumber yard lot on Water street and will erect thereon a wheat and four warehouse. He got that portion of the lot where the dry-house stands.

It is reported that Ray Patterson and William McKinneyan, son of Wash McKinneyan, of White Oak, have secured of Mrs. Belle Allen the triangular lot at the corner of High street and the Sharpsburg pike and will build on it a planing mill and establish a lumber yard.

James W. Smith was just fifteen days putting up on High street for Mrs. Carrie Lacy a residence of three large rooms, hall, kitchen, back porch and veranda. He commenced Tuesday on H. C. Gudgel's residence at the west end of Main street.

It is reported that several more buildings are under consideration and may be erected this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Vice and Miss May Hendrix left for Cincinnati Tuesday.

Reese Owings, of Montgomery county, visited his cousin Robert Cattell Sunday.

Mrs. John Gillon accompanied her daughter, Miss Ellen, to Cincinnati Tuesday.

Mrs. R. B. Brother and children are visiting Mrs. Walter Harper in Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. C. C. Hazelrigg and daughter, Miss Ethel went to Cincinnati shopping last week.

Floyd Bunch, of Mt. Sterling, was the guest of Clarence Madden, on Roe's Run, last week.

M. M. Rhodes left Tuesday for Elizaville. He has the booth privileges at the Ewing Fair.

Little Misses Alice Miller and Lottie Atchison returned from their visit to Winchester last Friday.

Mrs. Henry Scott and little grandson Henry Wesley went to Catlettsburg Tuesday to visit relatives.

Mrs. Dr. T. Y. Cooper, of Little Rock, Arkansas, after a visit with Mrs. W. W. Perry, left for home Tuesday.

Miss Sudie Stout, of Ewington, visited Misses Ollie and Ora Hart, on Roe's Run, from Wednesday until Monday.

L. A. Runnels, after a two-weeks' visit with relatives in the county, returned home to Reno, Indiana, Wednesday.

W. W. Williams and daughter, Miss Lida, of Forge Hill, went Tuesday to attend the G. A. R. Encampment.

Osmond F. Byron went to Paris Friday, returning Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Byron, who had been visiting her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pargum; Mrs. Jas. Miller and Mrs. H. T. Miller, all of Lovington, Ill., came Tuesday to visit relatives in this county.

Judge C. W. Goodpaster went to Carlisle Friday on business. Mrs. Goodpaster accompanied him to her father's, J. L. McAlister, at Bethel.

Mrs. Marie Lee, Ida Hunt and Cleora Brooks, of Winchester, visited Mrs. Mary R. Crockett, near Sharpsburg, from Thursday until Monday.

Mrs. J. Wallace Barnes left last Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. Dr. Curry, at Lebanon, O. From there she will attend the G. A. R. Encampment.

Edwin E. Pearce and sister, Miss Anna, of Bloomington, Ill., and Mr. Munger, of California, will arrive Friday to be the guests of Mrs. E. H. Goodpaster.

Mrs. Eugene Minihan and Mrs. L. R. Slesser accompanied by the latter's guest Miss Mamie Haas, of Wellston, Ohio, left Monday to attend the G. A. R. reunion.

WHAT TO DRINK.—"As to what you can and cannot eat here is the rule: Of meats you must deny yourself heavy, dark flesh. Under this head are itemized mutton, venison, goose and everything that is cut off a pig. Devote yourself to chicken, lamb, game, sweet breads, brains and the more delicate fish, when simply cooked and served without rich sauces. Avoid lobsters and crabs, but enjoy oysters and clams and refuse every fried fish. Of vegetables never touch tomatoes, cucumbers and salads that have a vinegar dressing, for an inadequate stomach is busy manufacturing more powerful acids than the system can endure. Eat lightly of potatoes, dried beans, or peas, and raw onions, but let yourself indulge freely in green beans and peas, carrots, turnips and well-cooked greens. For all the starch your body needs rice is the proper source of supply. An abundance of well-cooked rice is worth all the bread and beans and potatoes put together."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruelly from the use of them."

"Strawberries, raw pears and raw apples are cut off from the rheumatic, however wholesome they may be for others, and strangely enough, where grape and orange juice will set a man's throat to throbbing, he can help himself safely and freely to lemon and lime juice. A divine healing quality is found in both these fruits. There is but one sentence to cover the use of sugar: Don't eat it in any form whatsoever. Americans make the best sweetmeats in the world and suffer most cruel

Owingsville Outlook.

D. S. ESTILL, Publisher.

OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY

NIGHT ON THE SHORE

Dark is the sea and dark the sky;
The hurrying clouds drive swiftly by,
And the waves are wild to-night!
They break on the shore that is bare on the crag.

The sea from off me comes; the shore drag;
There is none a one that cares to let go;

And they shout in glee at their might.

Higher and higher they ever rise,
Lashing themselves to glistening foam,

Over the black night seas.

They long to leap, to fly, to bound,

To the bright where freedom is found,

Run with joy o'er the sandy mound,

And over the world to flee.

Then up and on the granite wall,

Down they burst, but back they fall,

Up, with a shriek of rage and pain,

They dash from the crest of the foaming
main.

Climb so madly! But back again!

They fall with a roar of despair.

The soul of man would sometimes leap

The environments that round it sweep,

But its bonds are set; like the mighty deep,

It is set;

As in the morn the waves will lap the shore.

The last great content is before,

Till the great unknown is the overture.

Which God himself shall show.

—Bessie A. Burrow, in Midland Monthly.

PART II.

CHAPTER X.—CONTINUED.

"Now, that bird," Silver said, "is 'maybe, 200 years old. Hawkin—she live forever mostly; if any body's seen more wickedness, it must be the devil himself. She's sailed with England—the great Capt. England, the pirate. She's been at Madagascar, and Malabar and Surinam, and Providence, and Portobello. She was at the fishing up of the wrecked plate ships. It's there she learned 'pieces of eight,' and like wonder, 350,000 of 'em. Hawkin! She was at the warding of the 'Victory of the Indies' out of Goa, she was; and to look at her you would think she was a baby. But you smelled powder—didn't you?"

"Stand by to go about," the parrot would scream.

"Ah, she's a handsome craft, she is," the cook would say, and give her sugar from his pocket, and then the bird would peck at the bars and swear straight on, passing belief for wickedness. "There! John would say, 'you can't be a pirate, and not be mad, lad. Here's this poor old innocent bird of mine swearing blue fire, and none the wiser, you may lay to that. She would swear the same, in a manner of speaking, before the chaplain." And John would touch his forelock with a solemn way he had, that made me think he was the best of men.

In the meantime, the squire and Capt. Smollett were still on pretty distant terms with one another. The squire made no bones about the matter; he despised the captain. The captain, on his part, never spoke but when he was spoken to, and then sharply, short and dry, and in a word, wasted. He owned, when driven into a corner, that he seemed to have been wrong about the crew, that some of them were as brash as he wanted to see, and all had behaved fairly well. As for the ship, he had taken a downright fancy to her. "She'll a point nearer the wind than a man has a right to expect of his own married wife, sir," he would add, "all I say is, we're not home again, and I don't like the cruise."

The squire, at this, would turn away and march up and down the deck, chin in air.

"A trifle more of that man," he would say, "and I should explode." We had some heavy weather which only proved the qualities of the "Hispaniola." Every man on board seemed well content, and they must have been hard to please if they had been otherwise; for it is my belief there was never a ship's company so spoiled since Noah put to sea. Double grog was going on the least excuse; there was dust off odd days as for instance, if the squire heard it was any man's birthday, and always a barrel of apples standing by the cabin door, and a dozen to help himself that had a fancy.

"Never knew good to come if it yet," the captain said to Dr. Livesey. "Spoil folk's hands, make devil. That's my belief."

But good did come of the apple barrel, as you shall hear; for if it had not been for that, we should have had no note of warning and might all have perished by the hand of treachery. This is how it came about:

We had run up the trades to get the wind of the island we were after—I am not slow to make plain—for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.

In I got bodily into the apple barrel, and found there was scarce an apple left; but there were the remains of the water and the rocking movement of the ship. I had either fallen asleep, or was on the point of doing so, when a heavy man set down with rather a clash close by. The barrel shook as he leaned his shoulders against it, and I was just about to jump up when the man began to speak. It was Silver's voice, and before I had heard a dozen words, I would not have shown myself for all the world, but lay there, trembling and retching, in the extreme of fear and consternation; for these dozen words I understood that the lives of all the hardy men aboard depended upon me alone.

—CHAPTER XI.
WHAT I HEARD IN THE APPLE BARREL.

"Well, no, I," said Silver. "First was I. I was quartermaster, along of my father, I tell you. I was, I tell you, your mate for aye; and now we're running low, for it with a bright lookout day and night. It was about the last day of our outward voyage, by the largest computation; some time that night, or, at latest, before noon of the morrow, we should sight the Treasure Island. We were heading S. W., and had a steady breeze astern and a quiet sea. The "Hispaniola" rolled steadily, dipping her bow-sprit now and then with a whiff of spray. All was drawing slow and aloft; every one was in the bravest spirit, because we were now so near an end of the first part of our venture.

Now, after sundown, when all my work was over, and I was on my way to my berth, it occurred to me that I should like an apple. I ran on deck. The watch was all forward looking out for the island. The man at the helm was watching the luff of the sail, and whistling away gently to himself; and that was the only sound excepting the swish of the sea against the bows and around the sides of the ship.</

STATE ITEMS OF INTEREST.

SHOOTING AT VERSAILLES.

Andrew F. Steele, Prominent Business Man Killed By Merritt J. Hughes—Police Was at the Bottom of It.

VERSAILLES, Ky., Sept. 1.—Andrew F. Steele, a prominent business man of Versailles and an ex-councilman and a very prominent factor in politics, aged about 50 years, was shot and killed Wednesday afternoon by Merritt J. Hughes, also a prominent business man of this place.

The shooting took place on Main street. Bad blood had existed between the two men for over a year. Politics was at the bottom. Steele and Hughes met on the street and Steele called Hughes a vile name. Hughes told Steele that he did not want any trouble with him. Steele repeated the same vile epithet and took out his knife. Hughes said: "You can't draw a knife on me." Steele used Hughes for the third time and then Hughes drew his pistol and fired four shots in rapid succession.

The first shot went wild, but the others took effect in Steele's body, killing him almost instantly.

Ex-Senator Blackburn witnessed the shooting. Steele had been drinking some, but a friend who was with him a short time before he was killed said he was not drunk. Hughes was immediately arrested and placed in jail, where he is very prominent. Steele is the son of the late Judge William Steele and a brother of J. W. Steele, a well-known race horse man, a member of the firm of Steele & Sons, dealers in lumber.

THE HOSPITAL TRAINS.

Gov. Bradley Will Start Them to Chickamauga and Newport News to Bring Home the Sick Soldiers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—Gov. Bradley will start the hospital trains to Chickamauga and Newport News to bring home the sick Kentucky soldiers at these camps on Saturday. After several banks had refused to loan the state the money necessary to equip the trains, the state treasury being empty, the governor secured the necessary amount from the State national bank at Frankfort.

Dr. U. V. Williams will have charge of the train to Newport News which will get the sick men in the 3d Kentucky, while Dr. S. James will have charge of the train to Chickamauga, where the 2d Kentucky is stationed. Four women physicians and nurses will go with each train, which will be provided with every comfort for the sick soldier boys.

RETURNED TO FRANKFORT.

Gov. Bradley and Corps of Surgeons and Nurses With the Hospital Train Bring 53 Sick Soldiers.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 5.—Gov. Bradley and his corps of surgeons and nurses returned Sunday with Kentucky hospital train from Chickamauga. The governor, after a personal inspection of Camp Thomas, does not credit the many stories of neglect of soldiers at Camp Thomas by their officers, and says the situation there is more favorable than he expected to it. Fifty-three sick soldiers from the 3d Kentucky regiment were brought back on the hospital train. The surgeons in charge of the train were very complimentary in talks concerning Sternberg and Leiter hospitals, and say they think the prevalence of thyroid in the camp is due to a lack of searage and failure to remove garbage from camp grounds.

Shackelford's Appointments.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—Hon. Sam J. Shackelford, of Owensboro, who was elected clerk of the court of appeals for Kentucky last fall, will assume charge of the office next Monday.

Shackelford announces that he will appoint Capt. Barnes, of Mt. Sterling, Hon. Gus Richardson, of Meade county, and Hon. Bob Green, of Frankfort, as his deputies.

Had a Serious Confinement.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—Stephen Langford, of Clay's Ferry, is dead at the age of 86. He leaves a widow and a fortune of $6,000. Langford began life as a stone mason. A few years ago he had a stone coffin made which weighs 1,800 pounds. He will be buried in this.

Injured by a Horse.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Sept. 3.—John Neiman, aged 72, the wealthiest German resident of the county and one of the largest property holders in Owensboro, is in a critical condition at his country home from injuries sustained by a horse falling on him.

Fire at Fulton.

FULTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—Fire Friday morning started in a restaurant here and burned the restaurant. The recently improved water works broke down, but a bucket line was formed to a creek, and after the hardest fight in the history of Fulton the fire was checked. The total loss is about $6,000.

Damages in Poison Case.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—A jury in the damage suit of Hutchison vs. Furr Friday awarded plaintiff judgment for $40. The suit was for $5,000.

It was charged that Furr put out poison for rats and Hutchison's children ate the poisoned bread, narrowly escaping death.

The Lexington Meeting.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 1.—Lexington will give a ten-day running race meeting, beginning September 19. Fifteen thousand soldiers are here, many of whom want racing. Two hundred horses are already here.

Take to Louisville for Safe-Keeping.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 5.—Rev. Wm. Miller, the Negro who is charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Frank Leet, of Lagrange, was brought here Sunday night for safe-keeping. The Negro claims he is not guilty.

Fire at Nicholasville.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Sept. 1.—David Carlton was arrested and placed in jail Wednesday, charged with attempted criminal assault on Mary Schmidt, a white girl aged 11 years. Carlton is an ex-convict, having served a term in the penitentiary for killing a fisherman with a coupling pin.

Acquitted of a Murder Charge.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 1.—Ten days ago Dick Waters killed Ed Lewis with a pistol at a dance. Thursday Waters was acquitted of a charge of murder.

Early Morning Tragedy at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 1.—At 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning Alex Young, colored, shot and instantly killed Tom Warren, also colored, on Mill street, near Main. Young married Warren's sister and abused her. Warren quarreled with him Tuesday. On their meeting Wednesday morning the quarrel was renewed, and Young shot Warren four times. He surrendered to the police.

The newspapers in Budapest report the discovery of a plot to murder Baros Szabo, the Hungarian premier.

WENT WITH IT.

Gov. Bradley Accompanies the Hospital Train to Chickamauga—All Sick Soldiers Will Be Brought Back.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 3.—The hospital corps for sick soldiers relief trains left here Friday night. The Chickamauga corps will be provided with a special train of five sleepers at a time. The Chickamauga corps will consist of seven sleepers. They expect to have all sick Kentuckians home by Tuesday night. The state arsenal in this city will be used as a temporary hospital for such soldiers as have no regular home or find it impossible to be taken home.

Gov. Bradley decided Friday night to accompany Chickamauga hospital train. He believes there are many more really sick Kentuckians there than hospital reports show and he will insist that all who are ill be returned whether they are in the hospital or not. He will make personal inspection of all Kentucky companies there and has given similar instructions to those in charge of the Newport News train, so that it is probable many more Kentucky soldiers will be brought home than was anticipated.

KILLING AT HARRODSBURG.

William Morgan, a Farmer, Cut and Shot, It is Alleged, by Jas. M. Moyer, a Brother-in-Law of Jack Chin.

HARRODSBURG, Ky., Sept. 3.—William Morgan, a white farmer, aged about 45, was brought to town at 6 o'clock Friday morning with bullet and knife wounds in his person and saturated with blood. He stated, while lying upon Dr. Price's operating table, that James M. Moyer, who is brother-in-law of Jack Chin, had shot and cut him. The two men and their families, closely connected, lived in the same house, but had not been on the best of terms late.

Morgan died at 11:30 o'clock.

Two bullets entered his chest, and he has several knife cuts, one in the abdomen, from which his bowels protruded. The affray occurred in their dwelling. Moyer has not been arrested, but it is expected he will come in and surrender himself.

Gen. Buell Convalescing.

ROCKPORT, Ky., Sept. 2.—The report that Gen. Buell is dying is untrue, as he was out in his yacht Wednesday. His health has not been good for several weeks and once or twice of late distressing symptoms have developed, but it is hoped he will soon entirely recover. This, his nearest telegraph office, is being flashed with solicited messages from all parts of the States following the reports of his desperate illness.

POINTER CLAY DISCOVERED.

TOPMINNSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 3.—George Mite, of Putnam county, Tennessee, has discovered a quantity of clay suitable for the best quality of crockery ware near Gamaliel, Monroe county. He has bought the land and is making preparations for the manufacture of the ware in the near future. Work has already begun on the cooler.

Central Committee to Meet.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 3.—The Republican state central committee has been called to meet in Louisville Tuesday. An effort will be made to settle the row in the Louisville district committee, which is interfering with Congressman Evans' campaign. The general political situation in the state will be talked over.

To Watch Millers.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 3.—Word was received here that Wallace A. Gaines, of Covington, had been appointed special deputy collector in the revenue department. His duty will be to see that the manufacturers of mixed flour comply with the provisions of the revenue act of June 18.

Fire at Fulton.

FULTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—Fire Friday morning started in a restaurant here and burned the restaurant. The recently improved water works broke down, but a bucket line was formed to a creek, and after the hardest fight in the history of Fulton the fire was checked. The total loss is about $6,000.

ORDERS ISSUED MUSTERING OUT THE 1st, 3d, 5th, 7th REGIMENTS AND THE 1st OHIO CAVALRY AT ONCE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Orders were issued Sunday night by the war department directing that the 1st Ohio Infantry be mustered out at its army in Cincinnati; that the 1st Ohio Cavalry and 5th Ohio Infantry be mustered out at the central army in Cleveland; and that the 3d, 7th and 8th Ohio regiments, not having regimental armories, be mustered out at Columbus. The regiments will proceed directly from the camps where they are at present to the points where they will be falling.

Fire in Newark, N. J.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Fire in Newark celluloid works, Newark, Sunday night destroyed the building and adjoining structures. Loss $200,000. Fourteen persons were injured and taken to hospitals; some of the persons being seriously burned.

Rev. Wm. Gregson Dead.

PRINCETON, Ky., Sept. 5.—Rev. Wm. Gregson died at his home near White Sulphur, this county. He was one of the most widely known elders in the Little River Association.

It is Andree?

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 5.—Indians reaching Dauphin from the far north report meeting an Eskimo who told of the appearance among them of a strange man who descended from clouds on the shores of Hudson's bay. The opinion among the whites is that the man is Andree, the Arctic explorer.

Brown's Regiment May Disband.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—Rev. James Lindsey, one of the most prominent Baptist ministers in southern Kentucky, died at his home near Allerton, aged 90.

Early Morning Tragedy at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 1.—On Jack's Creek Monday afternoon William Brock, a tobacco planter, tried to exterminate the Smith family in that vicinity. Three Smith brothers quarreled with Brock over the division of a tobacco crop. Brock perforated the truck with a shotgun, none fatally, however. Worley Smith is in the hospital here, and will likely lose his arm.

There were five deaths from the heat Sunday in Philadelphia and about 210000 persons.

The British empire embraces 10,000 islands.

TO ABANDON CAMP WIKOFF.

All Troops, Volunteers and Regulars, Will Soon Leave Montauk Point—Distribution of the Different Troops.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Orders were prepared in the war department Saturday for the practical abandonment of Camp Wikoff at Montauk Point. All the volunteer infantry regiments now there will soon start for their homes and the men will receive a furlough until they are mustered out, while most of the regulars, as soon as they have recuperated sufficiently, will remain duty at the posts which they garnished before the war began. The regulars will be mustered out, while the men will be mustered out, while most of the regulars, as soon as they have recuperated sufficiently, will remain duty at the posts which they garnished before the war began. The regulars will be mustered out, while the men will be mustered out, while most of the regulars, as soon as they have recuperated sufficiently, will remain duty at the posts which they garnished before the war began.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Secretary Alger, who returned late Saturday night from New York after his inspection tour through Camp Wikoff at Montauk Point with President McKinley and several of the bureau officials of the war department, commented Sunday upon the conditions of the camp and stated the results of his visit. The secretary said:

"I feel certain, after a careful examination of Camp Wikoff and a thorough investigation of its conditions, that everything possible is being done for the men, both sick and well, who are detained there. The camp is an admirable one—the best, I think, I ever saw. The site is ideal. It is beautiful without being picturesque and is certainly as healthful a camp location as could be found in the east central country.

"While the conditions are as good as could reasonably be expected in the circumstances—even better than I ever knew them to be in a camp—a shade of gloom is cast over the encampment by the physical condition of the men. Sickness, suffering and death may what would otherwise be a magnificent military picture. These conditions, however, are not the result of the camp itself, but of the terrible campaign through which the troops have just passed. That campaign of Santiago will be memorable in the military history of the world. It was wonderful both in its conduct and in the results accomplished. Few military experts expected when the campaign was inaugurated that such a success could be achieved in so short a time. It was a tremendous undertaking to begin a campaign in a tropical country during the rain season against a position naturally so strong and so well defended as was Santiago. That success was achieved so soon and with a loss comparatively so small is due to the energy and ability of Gen. Shafter and his commanding officers and the dash, bravery and splendid fighting qualities of the men of Gen. Shafter's corps.

The president was particularly solicitous about the condition of the men who are ill. He went to Camp Wikoff to ascertain for himself whether the men in the ranks needed anything they were not getting. His orders were that they should want for nothing, but he desired personally to know whether these orders were being carried out. After several hours of patient investigation and careful examination he left the camp to see for himself and his conviction as to the conditions was reached only after he had come in personal contact with those conditions. In the hospitals he went from ward to ward, almost from cot to cot, stopping every few seconds to talk to the sick men and cheer them with a kind expression or a grasp of the hand. It was an experience not soon to be forgotten. Success of the visit as President McKinley made to Camp Wikoff Saturday is almost unique in military annals. He went to the camp equipped with knowledge, judgment and experience to make an investigation. He had served in the camp and in the field himself and knew just what ought to be expected in the circumstances. That he was reasonably well satisfied with the conditions as he found them is in itself a guarantee that they are not far wrong.

Found Dead in a Hotel.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—S. Munsch, a well known architect of Pittsburgh, was found dead early Saturday in the toilet room of the American hotel. Deceased had been suffering from heart trouble and this in connection with the intense heat is supposed to have caused his death. Mr. Munsch was 60 years of age. He and two friends, Rev. J. G. Amshier, pastor of the Latonna Lutheran church, and Rev. R. Barner, rector of the Kittanning Lutheran church of Allegheny, Pa., were en route to Mt. Clements, Mich.

Bayard's Condition Critical.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 3.—The condition of Thomas F. Bayard, former ambassador to England, who is at Karlsruhe the home of his daughter, Mrs. Warren, has been critical Sunday. Deceased had been suffering from heart trouble and this in connection with the intense heat is supposed to have caused his death. Mr. Munsch was 60 years of age. He and two friends, Rev. J. G. Amshier, pastor of the Latonna Lutheran church of Allegheny, Pa., were en route to Mt. Clements, Mich.

ORDERS ISSUED MUSTERING OUT THE 1st, 3d, 5th, 7th REGIMENTS AND THE 1st OHIO CAVALRY AT ONCE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Orders were issued Sunday night by the war department directing that the 1st Ohio Infantry be mustered out at its army in Cincinnati; that the 1st Ohio Cavalry and 5th Ohio Infantry be mustered out at the central army in Cleveland; and that the 3d, 7th and 8th Ohio regiments, not having regimental armories, be mustered out at Columbus. The regiments will proceed directly from the camps where they are at present to the points where they will be falling.

Fire in Newark, N. J.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Fire in Newark celluloid works, Newark, Sunday night destroyed the building and adjoining structures. Loss $200,000. Fourteen persons were injured and taken to hospitals; some of the persons being seriously burned.

Rev. Wm. Gregson Dead.

PRINCETON, Ky., Sept. 5.—Rev. Wm. Gregson died at his home near White Sulphur, this county. He was one of the most widely known elders in the Little River Association.

It is Andree?

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 5.—Indians reaching Dauphin from the far north report meeting an Eskimo who told of the appearance among them of a strange man who descended from clouds on the shores of Hudson's bay. The opinion among the whites is that the man is Andree, the Arctic explorer.

At Bristol, Eng., the trades union congress Tuesday decided to send two delegates to the meeting of the delegates of the 3d Nebraska, Bryan's regiment, on their meeting Wednesday morning the quarrel was renewed, and Bryan was acquitted of a charge of murder.

Acquitted of a Murder Charge.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 2.—Ten days ago Dick Waters killed Ed Lewis with a pistol at a dance. Thursday Waters was acquitted of a charge of murder.

Early Morning Tragedy at Lexington.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 1.—On Jack's Creek Monday afternoon William Brock, a tobacco planter, tried to exterminate the Smith family in that vicinity. Three Smith brothers quarreled with Brock over the division of a tobacco crop. Brock perforated the truck with a shotgun, none fatally, however. Worley Smith is in the hospital here, and will likely lose his arm.

There were five deaths from the heat Sunday in Philadelphia and about 210000 persons.

The British empire embraces 10,000 islands.

Spain's Call to Arms.

SPAIN, Sept. 3.—Prof. Tacone, of the Vesuvius observatory, says that according to symptoms similar to those preceding the great eruption to 1872, much great activity of Vesuvius is imminent.

The Cat's Peace Conference.

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—It is the intention of Russia, according to reliable information obtained by a correspondent here, to convene a peace conference a month after the adjournment of the Spanish-American peace conference.</

Owingsville Outlook.

OWINGSVILLE, KY.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1 YEAR IN ADVANCE.

NOTICE.—Obituaries, memorials, etc., not to exceed 80 words, inserted free; $1 charged for each additional eighty words.

Correspondents will please remember to always mail their items so that they will reach us on Monday. This matter is seriously important to us.

CLUBBING TERMS.

The Owingsville Outlook and either of the following will be sent for one year for the price named:

Outlook and Twice-a-Week Courier-Journal, $1.30.

Outlook and Weekly Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, $1.40.

Outlook and Louisville Weekly Dispatch, $1.30.

Outlook and Louisville Daily Evening Post, $2.65.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 8, 1868.

War Matters.

Major General Wesley Merritt has left Manila for Paris to inform the Peace Commission about affairs in the Philippines. Aguinaldo sent him Col. Agoncillo to speak for the insurgents.

The natives and insurgent soldiers are plundering unresistedly outside the control of the U. S. troops in Manila, a state of anarchy prevailing. The city is orderly. The leading commercial men have petitioned Great Britain to use her influence against Spain in gaining control.

The Spanish customs officers in Havana are trying to make a stake in the brief time they will remain in authority by increasing tariff rates 30 per cent. The sufferers from the war famine, however, are better provided for there by the Spaniards than in the other Cuban cities, and Miss Clara Barton's Red Cross charity will be exercised elsewhere, as she was refused a landing for her supplies at Havana.

Because of the coolness between Gen. Shafer and Gen. Garcia, Gen. Gomez, under orders of the Cuban insurgent administration, refused Gen. Garcia's resignation and removed him from command, appointing Gen. Rodriguez to succeed him.

Gen. Shafer arrived at Montauk Point camp from Santiago last Thursday.

The hospital ship Olivette sank very mysteriously in thirty feet of water at Fernandina, Florida. No lives were lost.

The Spanish naval prisoners at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and Annapolis, Md., from Cervera down, were unconditionally released. They will return home at Spain's expense.

Roosevelt's Rough Riders are given 60-day furloughs and will at their expiration be mustered out.

From May 1st to Sept. 1st 322 soldiers died at the Chickamauga camp.

Gen. Toral, who surrendered Santiago, paid a high compliment to the U. S. Army just before he sailed for Spain, saying of the soldiers "They are a credit to any nation and quite on a par with any continental army."

The Chicago Tribune of Sept. 1st says 350 soldiers were killed or died of wounds received in battle, and it has a list of 1,284 who have died of disease, while there are perhaps hundreds more dead not on the list. The lists by camp are: Chickamauga (Thomas), 352, Santiago 341, San Francisco 78, Dunn Loring, Va., (Alger) 75, Montauk Point (Wilkoff) 63, Jacksonville 50, Tampa 58, Miami 26, State camp 36, on shipboard 90, in other camps and places 115.

In behalf of the State Gov. Bradley borrowed the money and hired two trains to go to Chickamauga and Newport News to bring home the sick volunteer soldiers of Kentucky. The people are to be appealed to for contributions to pay the expenses of the movement. Adj't Gen. D. R. Collier, Frankfort, Ky., will receive subscriptions for that purpose.

Gen. Shafter became too ill to take command of Montauk Point camp shortly after he landed.

Gen. Wheeler vigorously defends the authorities against complaints that the Santiago army was subjected to any unnecessary hardships.

Troops A and B of the volunteer cavalry are the only Kentucky soldiers ordered to be mustered out. The four regiments of infantry are to be retained in the service yet awhile. The Second sang in chorus "I want to go home" to Gov. Bradley when he visited them at Chickamauga Saturday, but they will move Wednesday of this week to their new camp at Anniston, Alabama.

Gov. Bradley's visit was gratefully received by the Kentucky soldiers at Chickamauga. He took a thorough account of everything, made all needful provisions for the comfort and welfare of the sick and sent them home on the hospital train.

Havana has calmed down and is prepared to accept the inevitable with the best grace possible under the circumstances.

The ship Comal with 1,000,000 rations for the starving Cubans is refused entrance at Havana unless the duty is paid on the supplies. The Eighth regular infantry is ordered from Fort Thomas, Washington, to Lexington. The Sixth regular infantry will soon be back at its old quarters at Fort Thomas, Ky.

The Fourth Ky. is ordered from Lexington to the camp at Knoxville.

The U. S. members of the Spanish-American Peace Commission will sail for Paris Sept. 17th.

The U. S. sloop John R. Meigs was blown up by a submarine near the mouth of the Mississippi while removing the mines and torpedoes. The captain and three men were killed and two wounded. The vessel went to the bottom.

The Spanish Peace Commissioners are Montero Rios, Leon Castillo, Villarraga, Montero and Correto.

The story from Bowling Green that the grasshoppers pounced upon and ate up a country family's entire washing in order to get the starch in the clothing is a strain on credibility.

ALL HONOR TO GOV. Bradley for his efforts on behalf of the sick Kentucky soldiers in Chickamauga and Newport News camps. But he has a grievance by reason of his visit to Chickamauga. It is well known that he is not letting his love for Mark Hanna "like a worm if the bud prey on his damask check." At the camp one of the Kentucky soldiers who has become somewhat deaf since he enlisted saw the harrup made over the governor as he passed through and he asked a comrade "Is that Mark Hanna?"

CORRESPONDENCE.

Forge Hill.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Buddie Jones, a daughter.

Several from here will attend the A. R. Reunion at Cincinnati this week.

Mrs. Clay Tackett and children, of Owingsville; Mrs. James Tinker and children, of Portsmouth, Ohio, visited the family of W. W. Williams Sunday.

Naylor's Branch.

Cutting and housing tobacco is the order in this community.

Jo B. Lathram, who is sick with typhoid fever, is much better.

John T. Hart had a paralytic stroke, on the left side, Friday night.

Silas Barber sold a cow to A. Roth for $22; also Will Markland sold one to same for $20.

Craigs.

George Toy visited Ernest and Butler Toy, near Wyoming, Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wells, of Roe's Run, visited the family of Butler Toy Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Jno. Shroud, of Mrs. Moore's Ferry, was the guest of Mrs. Mississa Snedegar the past week; also Jo Snedegar, wife and children, of near Owingsville, visited her.

Sam Shultz and wife attended church at Harper's school-house on Sunday afternoon to hear Brother Tinsley preach on the subject "Where are our homes built upon a rock or upon the sand?"

Cogswell.

G. W. Abbott was in Morehead Friday on business.

M. P. Williams, who has been very low with fever, is better.

Miss Maggie Cochran, of Mt. Sterling, who is visiting at Yale, attended the box supper at this place Saturday night.

We all enjoy going to apple pealings, especially when there is a wagon-load of melons on the road. Look out, Gaddie, you had better hide your melons these moonshining nights.

East Fork of Flat Creek.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Collier, a daughter.

A heavy rain storm passed over this vicinity Sunday.

Our public school is progressing nicely, with Butcher Anderson as teacher.

Thomas Elkins, son and daughter, of Clark county, and Mrs. Kate Allen, son and daughter, of Missouri, were guests of friends and relatives a few days last week.

I believe there is a good prospect for the angel of peace to hover over our great nation once more, and we hope for it soon. Also we hope every voter will vote for the bond issue and have peace at our doors, and to make it all look smooth and nice send Hon. Sam J. Pugh back to Congress, if for Mr. Williams was sent to Congress he would be thinking of his saw mill and neglect his official business.

Stepstone.

Miss Mary Oliver, of Mt. Sterling, is visiting Miss Allie Jones, in Mt. Sterling.

Miss Eliza Maxey attended the Teachers' Institute at Mt. Sterling last week.

Miss Mary S. Shroud, of this vicinity, is visiting Miss Margaret Jones, in Mt. Sterling.

Born, Sunday morning, Sept. 4th, to George W. Blevins and wife, a son—William Ashby.

Wm. Hellwig has bought property here from W. C. Harper and will move to it in a few days.

Mrs. Tennie Gormley, of Richmond, Madison Co., is visiting her brother, G. W. Blevins and wife, near here.

John Karrick and wife returned home from Salt Lick Thursday, where they had been to attend the reunion and visit friends.

At the sale of Joseph Suladic's property last Friday a suckling calf was sold for $31. Everything else sold proportionately well.

Owing to the fact that Bro. Hart is holding a protracted meeting at Wyoming and could not be at Corinth Sunday, his place was filled by Rev. Givens, of Lexington.

C. S. Templeman, of Millersburg, was here last Friday in the interest of the Hurst Home and Farmers Friend Insurance Co.'s. He was accompanied by Daniel Harper, of Prickett Ash.

Miss Kittie Lane, of this neighborhood, and Miss Lillie Barnes, of Peeled Oak, will leave shortly for Millersburg to enter college. Miss Barnes attended school there last year, but it is Miss Lane's first term there.

CHAS. D. HAMMOND, with B. McGuire associate editor, has begun the publication of the Scimitar, a Republican weekly newspaper, at Beattyville, Ky. Mr. Hammond is the late manager of the Alice Byno dramatic company, which recently played an engagement here. The Scimitar is a neat sheet, well edited, and abounding in local news and editorial comment. Beattyville, like the large majority of country towns, has not heretofore given a very generous support to newspapers, but the Scimitar may be able to touch the secret spring or utter the "open sesame" that will cause the folks there to open their hearts and receive and properly care for Mr. Hammond's journalistic offspring.

The Fourth Ky. is ordered from Lexington to the camp at Knoxville.

The U. S. members of the Spanish-American Peace Commission will sail for Paris Sept. 17th.

The U. S. sloop John R. Meigs was blown up by a submarine near the mouth of the Mississippi while removing the mines and torpedoes. The captain and three men were killed and two wounded. The vessel went to the bottom.

The Spanish Peace Commissioners are Montero Rios, Leon Castillo, Villarraga, Montero and Correto.

The story from Bowling Green that the grasshoppers pounced upon and ate up a country family's entire washing in order to get the starch in the clothing is a strain on credibility.

Olympia.

H. O. Irwin was in Lexington Thursday.

Mrs. Blanch Miller was in Mt. Sterling last week.

We had a good rain Sunday, which was beginning to be needed in this section.

Fred Slesser started for Cincinnati Saturday to attend the G. A. R. encampment.

George Jackson and Herndon Young started for Wilmore last week to attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. Mart. Warren, of Kansas, have been visiting Jas. K. Jackson the past week.

A number from here attended the quarterly meeting of the M. E. church at Salt Well Sunday.

We got the names a little mixed in last issue and said that a Mr. Reynolds had moved to this place from Riley Sorrell's, in Menifee county, on what is known as Slab Run. Mr. Crouch, accompanied by your corps, brought the skull to this place. It shows a bullet hole in the rear and another near the ear.

Mrs. Tarr left Thursday for her home in Paris, Ky. She will leave her son Russell at the Springs until frost, as he has hay asthma at home. No one has hay fever at White Sulphur.

They are among the very best people in that section of the country, and we wish them a long and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Married, Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock a. m., Wm. O. Phillips and Miss May Newman, at the residence of the bride's father, S. R. Newman, in Grange City. The groom is the son of our old physician, Dr. Phillips, and like his father his profession will be that of a physician. He studied at Cincinnati for two years, and we have no doubt he will be long and recognized as an able and conscientious physician. The bride is a devout Christian lady of whom no one finds anything but kind words to say. The refining touches of education and music shine forth among her many graces and she has long been held in high esteem by her many acquaintances. May they drink at the fountain of peace, joy and prosperity for numerous years is the wish of many friends.

Elder Finley, who is the leading spirit in our protracted meeting, is a young man of good appearance and possesses a high order of intelligence. He is also one of the few ministers who have good sense enough and manhood enough to mention the belief and opinions of others without insulting them. A man who deals fairly with his fellow men will do good in the world and he deserves to do good. The bigot who is all swollen out of shape with the idea that he is right and everybody else is a fool and eternally lost simply because every man does not and cannot believe as he does, may carry the people away for awhile, but when his lop-sidedness becomes apparent his memory passes away like a dream. Again, you will observe that the man who is thoroughly in earnest with life is not a bigot.

Upper Prickly Ash.

Marschall Stone bought some stock hogs at Olympia last week at 4 per lb.

Elder Amos Kendall visited his sister, Mrs. Frances Hamilton, first of the week.

A large crowd attended the dedication of the new school-house Sunday afternoon.

C. S. Ratliff and family, of Bald Eagle, were guests of Daniel Harper and wife Sunday.

James Kendall, formerly of South Side, now of Flat Creek, was in this community Sunday.

C. S. Templeman, of Moorefield, agent for the Hurst Home Insurance Co., was in this neighborhood last week.

Several of the young folks of this neighborhood attended the big meeting at Wyoming Saturday and Sunday nights.

Mrs. W. W. Clark and little daughter Ashley, of Flat Creek, visited friends in this neighborhood Sunday.

Very little doing in the way of mining. There are several teams stripping.

George Jackson has bought out Charley Horsemann's grocery store near here.

Heavy rain here Sunday, with high wind; no damage as far as heard from.

There are several of the boys from here down in the tobacco districts, helping to cut and house the crop.

Wm. McConaughay and sister Nannie, of Jackstown, Nicholas Co., are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Collier.

The Sick.—Charles Goodpastor is quite poorly with a complication of diseases. Mrs. F. F. Tackett is about the same. Richard Burns is in a fair road to recovery. John Fleming is doing no good.

Nathaniel Markland has sold his farm to Riley Chandler; price private. Mr. Markland is prospecting around to buy another farm. We hope he will be able to suit himself in this neighborhood in the purchase of a farm, as his many friends would be sorry for him and his estimable wife to leave the community.

Miss Ida Wills, a charming belle of Salt Lick, and her sister, Mrs. Ida Jackson, visited Nathaniel Markland and wife Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Peters, of Owingsville, is visiting relatives here Sunday.

Thos. S. Snedegar, of Yale, visited relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. Ruth Jones sold one suckling steer calf to Geo. W. Boyd for $20.

M. L. Jones sold six steer calves to Joseph Swetnam last week at $19 per head.

Jessie H. Anderson and Jno. W. Snedegar are attending the reunion at Cincinnati this week.

Miss Pearl Trumbo and Mrs. Andrew Trumbo, of Bethel, were guests at their uncle J. B. Donaldson's the first of the week.

The probabilities now are that Mrs. Elvira Williams, who has been visiting in the West for the past two months, will locate in Drexel, Cass county, Mo., for the next twelve months to send her children to school there.

G. W. Boyd is quite sore, caused by jumping from the bare door to something near the loft, which is some 22 feet high, and cutting some capers while up one morning last week about daylight, when he discovered that he had caught and carried some distance on his arm above the thought a bridle falling from above. But, lo, it was a 5-foot snake wrapped around his arm with its head in a few inches of his face.

The Sick.—